CARE OF BEDS AND BEDDING.

A Few Shrewd Observations on an Everyday Topic.

There is a vast difference in the way
different housekeepers manage and care for their beds. Some of them fully believe in the fresh air theory and during pleasant weather, as soon as their toilet is made, up go the bedroom windows and the pillows are laid upon the sill
for an airing; the bedclothing, if not removed and thrown on a chair, is turned down over the foot of the bed.
If a feather bed is used, that is also well shaken up and left until the bed is again made up, sometimes in the forenoon. This management is in strong contrast to the usual plan of never touching a slept in bed until it is again
prepared for the sleeper, yet in the item
of health there is perhaps no discernible difference.

The children living in homes of squalor and wretchedness, whose bedding is perhaps not changed once a month, are quite as healthy and cheerful as those who sleep in bed linen changed daily. The Chinaman who sleeps on his pillow of wood is quite as strong and usually less nervous than the "Medicinal man" who rests his head upon downy pillows. However, this is no excuse why beds should not receive proper care and a thorough airing frequently, if not daily. It is certainly a matter of habit, and the daughters generally in this line follow the practice incubated by their mothers.

Bedclothes that are stored away
should be aired several times each year,
as moths and the carpet bug will raise sad havoc with them if not properly attended to. Camphor gum or fine tobacco scattered between each fold will keep out the former, but cannot be depended upon as a panacea for the carpet bug.
If mice are known to be about the premises, traps should be properly baited and placed near their haunts, as at nesting time they will make bedding to make a soft nest. A close fitting chest or trunk makes the safest storing place for all unused clothing, bedding, etc. A large plain trunk can usually be purchased for a small sum, and will pay its cost every year in the safety of its contents. —Germantown Telegraph.

PIN HISTORY.

The Useful Articles Were Known in Early Times to Egyptians.

Pins are, as the saying goes, as old as the hills. In some form or another they have been in existence ever since our first parents clothed themselves in fig
leaves, which grew wild in the garden of Eden. As a matter of fact, pins claim a very high antiquity, the earliest form being the natural thorn, which is still used to some extent by the peasant women of upper Egypt. In prehistoric times pins were also made of the small bones of fish and animals.

Among the remains of the lake dwellers of Europe have been found bronze pins and bronze brooches, in which the pins form the prominent feature, many of which are highly ornamental and very beautiful. A few copper and one pin have also been found. It is estimated that 10,000 pins have been collected at the lacustrine station of Switzerland alone. A few of these have double stems and were probably used as hairpins. There have been found at Peschiera pins which are exactly the same in form as the safety pins of the present time. Among the single stem pins are many ingenious devices for preventing the spike from passing entirely through the cloth or other material it is used for fastening together.
Many of them are so formed that they are thicker for some places than in others. A large number, both of bone and bronze, had the head formed of a loose
ring passed through an eye in the pin.
A few of them have the appearance of the scrip now in use. In Egypt pins with gold heads have been discovered, while in ancient Rome bronze pins and bone hairpins with ornamental heads have been discovered among relics of Tomb. —Philadelphia Press.

Old Johnson was very much given to
"tipping" not wisely but too well,
and would spend all his spare time at his favorite pub, says Spare Moments.

His house was so situated that it was necessary for him to go through the churchyard to reach it. One night, being a bit fuller than usual, he managed to fall into a newly made grave. He fell without hurting himself, and being tired went off to sleep. When he awoke the next morning, he couldn't make out where he got to, but after a struggle
managed to reach the top of the grave
and look around.

A broad grin spread over his face as
he muttered to himself:
"Dear, dear, it's resurrection day,
and I'm up first."

Where Circulation Is Feebler.

Those who lead a sedentary life find
the circulation feeblest about the nose, lips and temples, and those parts of the face should be energetically kneaded
several times a day. When the pores become distended, the fine, invisible dust in the air enters and clogs and blackens them. Mere ordinary face washing, even when warm water and soap are used, is not sufficient to remove the dirt in the pores, but the vigorous acid of the lemon will cleanse and carry off all such unsightly blemishes.

CROWNED WITH HONOR.

The Great Presbyterian, Rev. Charles L.
Thompson, D. D., of New York.

What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done For the Eloquent Preacher.

From no one class of men has Paine's Celery Compound received more unstinted praise for its wonderful powers of making the sick to be well again
than from ministers of the gospel in every denomination.

Rev. Father Ouellet, Rev. Dr. Meek,
the editor of the Central Methodist, Rev.
Dr. Baird, Rev. W. J. White, D. D., of
the Georgia Baptist, are among the hosts of clergymen who have gratefully published that their experience might be of benefit to others, the very true story of how this greatest of all remedies make people well, building up the shattered nerves, enriching the thin blood and rooting out disease.

Rev. Charles L. Thompson, D. D.,
pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York city, is a man crowned with honor. Before going to the celebrated church where he now preaches in New York he served in prominent pulpits in Cincinnati,
Chicago, Pittsburg and Kansas City.
He has written much and well on themes of public interest, presided over the Centennial General Assembly in Philadelphia, and has been often a commissioner and chairman of leading committees, and an exceptionally forcible debater in all the church courts.

His large charity has made him a welcome representative of his church
to other churches and to his brethren
of other lands.

Dr. Thompson is a prodigious worker.
He is one of the many thousands who have discovered what Paine's Celery Compound does for those who are worn out by labor, who are suffering from some stage of nervous exhaustion,
and who require a health-giving remedy
that will speedily replenish the system
with proper nutriment.

Writing from New York on June 23,
Dr. Thompson says:

"I think to the use of Paine's Celery Compound is due the fact that after a winter of exhausting work I have been able to carry my duties through the enervating springtime with unusual ease and comfort."

To the multitude who suffer from the enervating effects of the warm weather in this climate, this plain,

straightforward statement from so eminent and fearless a clergyman should be heeded.

Paine's Celery Compound has put an end to an enormous amount of sickness and disease.

It began at the very outset of its splendid career to cure men and women of kidney trouble, liver complaint and nervous prostration. Its speedy and lasting cures of all these nerve and blood disorders were not slow in spreading its reputation through every state in the country. Physicians everywhere greeted the great remedy as the most enlightened, most skillful means that could be employed for invigorating
the "run down" system.

Thousands of wholly disinterested
men and women saw their neighbors and townspeople made well by Paine's Celery Compound.

This epoch-making discovery in medicine due to the patience, thoroughness and zeal of the great Dartmouth College scientist, stands to-day unquestioned as the greatest brain and nerve strengthening and restoring the world possesses.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
OF NEBRASKA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
ARTHUR SEWALL
OF MAINE.

A SENSIBLE BANKER.

William P. St. John was president of the Mercantile National Bank of New York, one of the great banks of the United States for years. Though originally disposed to favor the single gold standard, he investigated the financial question thoroughly and espoused the cause of bimetallism, and for several years has been a staunch advocate of free coinage. As Mr. St. John's views were not in conformity with those of the money kings of New York, he resigned the presidency of the bank, with a salary of $18,000 a year, for the cause of silver. He was chosen Permanent Chairman of the National Silver Convention at St. Louis, and delivered an able speech on the financial question. He said it is among the first principles of finance, that the value of each dollar, expressed in prices, depends upon the total number of dollars in circulation. The plane of prices is high, when the number of dollars in circulation is great in proportion to the number of things to be exchanged by means of dollars, and low when the dollars are proportionately few. The plane of prices at present and for some time past has been ruinously low.

The increase of population calls for increasing exchange and thereby demands an increasing number of dollars in circulation. The increase in number of dollars when dollars are confined to gold, is not sufficient to meet the growth of our exchange. The consequence is a growing value of dollars or a diminishing value of everything else expressed in dollars, which is to say, a tendency toward constantly declining prices.

"The fountainhead of our prosperity," said Mr. St. John, "has run dry. Our farmers have endured the depression in prices until they get about $3 or $9 per acre for and expenditure of $10 per acre. Their credit at the store is exhausted the store ceases to order from the city merchant, the city merchant reduces his demand upon the manufacturer, manufacturers are curtailed, employees are discharged, and wages are lowered to those who continue in employment. The sufferings of the farmers, who constitute one-half our population, are thus forced upon the city merchant, the manufacturer and all forms of labor. These combined elements constitute the overwhelming majority of the voters and their intelligent conclusion will be felt when expressed at the polls. The banker, also, is without prosperity unprofit, can afford to pay interest for their use. In other words, interest is a share the profit on the employment of money. Less prosperity is general throughout the United States. He must learn to distinguish between cheap money and money commanding a low rate of interest. The dollar worth two bushels of wheat is a dear dollar, and yet it commands interest in Wall street at present of but two per cent per annum on call. If the dollar can be cheapened by increasing the number of dollars so that each dollar will buy less wheat, the increased price of wheat will increase the demand for dollars to invest in its production. Then the borrower of dollars, being reasonably sure of a so that an abundant money, money readily obtainable, which is to say, really cheap money, is the money which commands a high rate of interest, as a share of the profit of the borrower in using it."

Mr. St. John says the opposition threatens us with a flood of Europe's silver upon reopening the mints, but Europe has no silver but her silver money, which is valued at three to seven cents on the dollar higher than ours.

The European banker must sacrifice from three to seven cents on the dollar of his full legal tender money in order to recoup it into ours. They threaten us with a sudden retirement of $600,000,000 in gold, with the accompanying panic. We answer that our total stock of gold, other than about $15,000,000 circulating on the Pacific Coast, is already in retirement. Practically all our gold is in the United States Treasury, or held by banks. The gold in the Treasury will remain there if the Secretary avails himself of his option to redeem notes in silver. The gold in the banks constitutes the undisturbed portion of their reserves against their liabilities. It will continue to do money duty as such reserves, after a free coinage of silver law is enacted; hence a premium on gold will not contract the currency. A similar threat of the fight of gold was made for the passage of the Bland act in 1876, and Hayes was urged to veto it. Instead of a fight of gold, as was predicted, we gained by imports $221,000,000 of foreign gold in twelve years. Instead of the destruction of our credit abroad, as had been predicted, the United States 4 per cent loan, which sold at 107 the day the Bland act passed, sold at 120 within three years. The 24,000,000 silver dollars, which were coined the first year and circulated by means of silver certificates, reduced the demand for gold; hence the 'threat of disaster' now is without historic foundation.

This, then, says Mr. St. John, is what will follow the reopening of our mints to silver. The gold in the Treasury will remain there. A premium on gold will not contract the currency. It will increase our exports by yielding a larger net return in dollars, and diminish our imports. This will set our mills to running, swell the number of operatives, increase their wages, thereby increasing the number and paying capacity of consumers and thus enlarge our home markets. The instant that European trade settlements with the United States are made in gold, parity for our gold and silver money is established in the markets of the world.

The facts and figures given by Mr. St. John, refute the arguments of the gold men, and show that he understands the subject. His speech should be extensively circulated in gold standard communities, and if it should be read at any of the gold clubs now being organized, it would stampede the members.

THE ALABAMA SITUATION.

Late returns from the Alabama election, show that Johnson and the Democratic ticket carried forty-one counties, and Goodwin and the Populist ticket carried twenty-two counties, while in Pike, Cullum and Talaposa counties it is about a standoff between the parties.

Johnson's official majorities in the counties which he carried, aggregate over 48,000. Goodwin's majorities in the counties which he carried are over 9,000, leaving Johnson's net majority over 39,000.

The Legislature stands seventy-four Democrats, a gain of ten members, twenty Populists and four doubtful, in the House and thirteen Democrats, three Populists and one doubtful in the Senate.

Johnson's majority in the White counties is about 10,000. This indicates that the charge that Goodwin was elected, but counted out, is not well founded. This had a quieting effect on the Populists, and the reasonable members of that party say it is officially shown the white counties elected Johnson, they will support Bryan and Sewall in November, otherwise they will vote for Bryan and Watson.

The Populists claimed before the election that the white counties would give a majority for Goodwin, their candidate for Governor. As no friends are charged in these counties, if the official returns show that they gave Johnson a majority, there will be no cause to doubt that he was fairly elected. In that event the conservative members of the party will support the Bryan and Sewall ticket, and the State will roll up a majority of 75,000 for that ticket in November.

The provisional committee of the gold Democrats held a meeting at Indianapolis yesterday. It was thought that a gold Democratic ticket would draw more votes from Bryan than McKinley could, and it was decided to hold a convention at Indianapolis.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, says there is no authority for the statement that Senator Hill had declared himself on the political question. He said he had stated that Hill would be all right, but there was no reason for attaching any significance to the opinion.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. She never reaches the full degree of womanly development until she has felt the pleasing responsibility of maternity. All this happiness may be marred or may be turned into misery if the child is not a healthy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Heredity is strong, and it is every woman's duty to give her children the best possible chance in life. Nothing that she could possibly give them can be as valuable as health. Health cannot be enjoyed without health. Health is life. People who are not healthy are only half alive. The child who starts out with a robust body and vigorous, virile health, has everything to be thankful for and nothing to be afraid of. You cannot expect such a child to spring from a weak and sickly mother. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. All such trouble is as unnecessary as it is terribly distressing. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all troubles of this nature. There is no guess-work about this statement, and there is no qualification. The Favorite Prescription should be used promptly and persistently until the symptoms entirely disappear. In every case, it restores perfect health and strength and assists in the beautiful and regular performance of all the natural functions. The Favorite Prescription should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of her life. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains and danger of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a congested condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all good people for its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

WHERE ARE WE AT?

Will Some Local Gold Standard Advocates Tell Us?

EDITOR JOURNAL.—The trade balance for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, was in favor of the United States to the amount of $102,801,923 and for the same year the exports of gold and silver exceeded the imports by $112,000,000, but in the face of this favorable showing we have increased our debt to Europe by an enormous amount. This fact is proven by the large amount of bonds that the Europeans are continually taking against the property in the United States, as well as acquiring title to immense tracts of land, mines and other property.

To a person unacquainted with the immense absorbing power of money placed at compound interest, the above statement of facts appear very conflicting. When people read of the European syndicates buying mines, factories, stocks, bonds and real estate in the United States they think that the gold is brought from Europe to pay for this property and that we have increased our stock of gold by a like amount. Even McKinley, as late as September, 1892, shared in this belief, as the following extract from his speech, delivered at Beatrice, Nebraska, clearly proves:

Yet during the last fiscal year we sold abroad nearly $200,000,000 more than we brought abroad. This was an excess in our favor which foreigners paid to us, and which we have at home circulating among our people. McKinley made this speech about the 1st of September, 1892, and as the fiscal year ended some two months previous he undoubtedly presumed that the foreigners had paid this balance in gold and it had entered into active circulation. Let us take a glance at the statistical abstract of the United States and see how the Europeans poured their treasure into the lap of the United States to settle this big trade balance. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, our excess of exports of gold and silver above the exports was $18,351,346. It was undoubtedly such a profound ignorance on finance as McKinley manifested in Nebraska in 1892 that made him a bankrupt in 1893.

As we have shown how the bonds, stocks and title to property in the United States is rapidly passing into the hands of the Europeans, notwithstanding the fact that the balance of trade is in our favor, let us see how it is done. One hundred years ago the principal of the national debt was $85,000,000, and of the public and private debt at that time probably not less than $50,000,000 was owed to foreign nations. The movement of stocks, bonds and specie clearly prove that about this amount has been left here at compound interest. After making liberal estimates for worthless investments the debt of $60,000,000 in 1790 has grown to a debt of at least $10,000,000,000 in 1896. This vast debt at the low rate of 4 per cent yearly interest requires $400,000,000 per annum to settle. If we have a balance of trade in our favor of $100,000,000 and export another $100,000,000 in specie we still owe $200,000,000 on interest account, which is settled with more bonds. Tom Reed's remedy for this alarming state of affairs is the gold standard, a high tariff and more foreign capital to help develop the resources of the United States. More foreign capital means more interest to pay, and as we are paying the great bulk of the interest now with more interest bearing bonds we would like for Mr. Reed or some other advocate of the gold standard to tell us how long it will take to sufficiently develop our resources so we can pay the interest on what we owe without getting deeper in debt. Perhaps some of the local advocates of the gold standard can give the desired information. We would like to hear from them. Geo. E. PROKHAN, Reno, August 7, 1896.

Issued Patients.

Sheriff Hadley brought in a patient from Humboldt county and delivered him to the Asylum last evening. He is the man who the JOURNAL mentioned in a former issue as boarding the train at Beowawe and frightening the passengers.

Charles W. Thompson of Carson was brought in on the V. & T. last night and taken to the Hospital. He was a patient some five years ago, but recovered and has since held prominent positions in Carson. He is well known and very popular and it is hoped that his trouble may only be of a temporary character.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Information Wanted.

About nine years ago a farmer named Norman Babcock left Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, and was last heard from six or seven years ago at Reno, where he was at work on a bridge and boarding at the Tremont House, which was conducted by a Mr. Cumby. His father died recently and left some property, a part of which would belong to the son. Any information concerning him addressed to C. T. Bender, Washoe County Bank, will be appreciated.

THE REPUBLICANS.

A McKinley and Hobart Club Organized.

Forty-two gentlemen, by actual count gathered at Justice Linn's courtroom last evening for the purpose of organizing a Hobart and McKinley club. There is said to be eight more Republicans in town, but they did not attend the meeting.

Mr. Allen Bragg, an enthusiastic stalwart, called the meeting to order and stated its purpose. The eloquent appeal to stand by the old party, was so affecting at times that tears chased each other down the cheeks of General Turrittin and others.

He closed with nominating S. A. Hamlin as temporary chairman, who was elected unanimously. W. D. Phillips, H. J. Thres, A. C. Bragg, Prof. Hillman, H. P. Krause and L. D. Folsom were each nominated for temporary secretary and each declined but at last Mr. Folsom consented to accept the secretaryship temporarily.

Dr. Patterson offered a resolution which, in burning words, set out the conditions in general and told of the impending disaster to the country, and asked the aid and support of all citizens regardless of past party affiliation who believed in protection to battle for Republican principles and elect McKinley and Hobart, and invited all in favor of bimetalism and who are opposed to the single gold or single silver standard, and the elevation of the laborer, to join the club.

Frank Emmitt thought that the resolution was premature and should be referred to a Committee on Resolutions.

Mr. Summerfield agreed with Mr. Emmitt and moved as a substitute that a Committee on Constitution and By-Laws and Principles be named.

There was some little debate, but the substitute was finally adopted, and the club appointed Dr. Patterson, J. F. Emmitt, S. Summerfield, W. D. Phillips, W. S. Beard and J. G. Fletcher as such committees.

The following Committee on Permanent Organization and Order of Business was then appointed: Messrs. Emmitt, Oohn, Turrittin, Bird and Dr. Thomas.

Some little talk was then indulged in as to the date of the next meeting, and it was finally decided to meet on the 21st instant, at which time the committees were instructed to report.

Hon. E. V. Spencer of Susanville was present and was invited to address the club. Mr. Spencer made a strong talk for protection and favored bimetalism as well, yet insisted that protection was the paramount issue, giving his reasons as a Republican why he thought so. He stated that he was opposed to the California delegation favoring McKinley, for he did not believe the Republican nominee had the right ideas on silver, but he believed that he was right on other matters, and now that he was nominated he would support him. Mr. Spencer is a forcible and pleasant speaker and was listened to attentively.

Dr. Patterson and Mr. Summerfield followed in short addresses and the meeting adjourned.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

A Small Barn Burns and Frightens the Neighborhood.

Just about 5 o'clock yesterday an alarm of fire was sounded from the western part of town and it seemed only a moment or two after when a dense smoke indicated a good sized blaze. Big 6 was out in no time and going like mad in the direction of the fire. The streets were soon alive with people and there was considerable excitement.

The fire was in a small barn on a lot situated between the Nelson and Twombly places on Nevada street, and owned by C. Allen of Churchill county, directly west of Dan Boyd's residence. The fire had gotten such headway on the barn that it was useless to devote any attention to it, so the out-buildings on adjoining lots were looked after. Streams were soon playing and owing to the close proximity of other buildings, Chief Hodgkinson ordered out a second steamer.

Mrs. Matson, who lives on the next lot to where the fire occurred, was sitting in a window facing the barn and saw a little boy go into the barn and shortly afterwards hurry out. A few moments later Mrs. Matson saw a cloud of smoke burst from the building and she immediately gave the alarm.

The barn was used by B. N. Curtis, and was filled with hay. He kept his horse, cart, cow and chickens there and suffered the loss of his hay, cart, horse and chickens, amounting to about $60. Out-buildings on the Nelson place and on D. B. Boyd's and Mrs. Walrod's places were damaged to the extent of $25 or $30.

The fireboys as usual did prompt and good work and confined the fire to a small radius.

The Non-Partisan Club.

The JOURNAL is informed that the meeting of the Non-Partisan Bryan Club, which was postponed until this evening at the court-house, has again been postponed until a week from tonight. Bryan's acceptance speech is expected to clear the political atmosphere so that all can see where he stands, hence the postponement of the meeting.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Severe Weather in Limited Localities. (Copyrighted by Prof. W. T. Foster.)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 7.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 10th to 14th, during which some very severe weather will occur in limited localities.

The next will reach the Pacific Coast about the 10th, cross the west of the Rockies country by the close of the 16th, the Great Central Valleys 17th to 19th, and the Eastern States 20th.

The warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 15th, Great Central Valleys the 17th, and the Eastern States the 19th.

The cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about the 18th, the Great Central Valleys the 20th, Eastern States the 22d.

The temperature of the week from August 9th to 15th, inclusive, will average above the mean of the month in the Great Central Valleys, lake regions and westward, and below the mean of the month in the Eastern States.

In the Great Central Valleys rainfall will probably be deficient till about the 18th, followed by heavy showers to the close of the month. The dry period of the month will come earlier in the Eastern States, followed during the middle third of the month by frequent showers, the month closing out dry.

A few technical terms are necessary in weather lore, even in newspaper literature. A technical word may often express as much as can be crowded into several lines of common language.

The terms normal, mean and average are very useful and their technical meanings should be understood by all who read these bulletins. The common reader often regards these as synonymous terms but they are not.

The term normal expresses a constant. The normal temperature of March at Cincinnati, Ohio, is 42.8. This is found by taking the average of all Marches for many years past. But the mean or average temperature of March, 1895, at Cincinnati was 40.8 and therefore the mean of that month was two degrees below the March normal. To get the mean temperature of a day we take the 7 A. M., 2 P. M., double the 9 P. M., divided by 4. Then we have the mean of that day.

Departure means that the temperature or rainfall or air pressure is above or below the normal. There are hourly, daily, monthly, weekly and annual normals in use, but none of them are exactly correct. When I say that the middle third of August will average above the mean temperature of the month in the Great Central Valleys I do not thereby say that it will average above the normal because the two terms may indicate opposite conditions of weather. The mean of that month may be far below the normal, and while the hottest third of the month will be above the mean it might be below the normal. Give these terms a little study.

A SUICIDE.

A Weak Sister Takes Optum and Ends Her Existence.

A Spanish girl known as Dora Hansen took a dose of opium yesterday with suicidal intent, and after lingering until 9 o'clock last evening passed away. She made an attempt on her life some three weeks ago, but Dr. Phillips saved her at that time. Yesterday she made the dose a sure one. Her companions say that when drinking she became despondent and developed a suicidal mania. She began drinking yesterday morning and in the afternoon determined to end her life. Dr. Phillips worked faithfully for several hours, but was satisfied from the first that there was no hope. She never regained consciousness after the stupor first overcame her. She was a native of California, aged about 26 years. The inquest will take place to-day.

Visits the University.

Hon. Francis G. Newlands and his daughter Frances visited the University yesterday. They were shown through the buildings and grounds and were greatly pleased. Mr. Newlands noticed the improvement of the grounds particularly and offered to have a topographical map prepared of the University site. He made several suggestions that were valuable, having learned considerable in the attractive planning of properties that came directly under his own supervision.

Did Not Get a Fair Shake.

The boys that belong to the Reno B. C., who were defeated by the Altar boys at baseball a day or two ago, complain that they didn't have a fair shake. Phil Reese, captain of the Reno nine, says that the smallest boys in the Reno club were picked out to play against the Virginia kids and when five innings had been played and the Virginia boys were three ahead the game was called off. Phil says that if the Renos had been given a show to play the game out they would have won it in a walk.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Two men, named Porter and Hesketh, were arrested yesterday by Officer Dewing and a railroad detective, on suspicion of being connected with the attempt to wreck passenger train No. 1 night before last. The men were arrested near Loughton's Springs. There is no direct evidence against them only that their footprints corresponded with some that were found near where the obstruction was put on the track.

There is a city in the western part of Canada, close to the Pacific ocean, which is named by all who visit it the most desolate spot upon the face of the earth. Its climate is good, its natural resources excellent, its houses fair, its streets well paved, yet within this town there is an air of forlorn dejection that strikes the most careless traveler that comes within its boundary.

It is on Vancouver Island—a sweet, fair spot. And the desolation is caused by one thing—only one—the lack of women and girls.

This particular town is searier of the product than others of its locality. There are many towns upon the island, but this one looks women so sadly that in a recent census of the place it was found nearly 3,000 short. This number included a count of serving women, women to do the work of the house, cook and wash and iron. It also included working girls and women who are not expected to marry. And, of course, it took in the queens of the city, the fair mistresses of the homes and the mistresses of the pretty establishments.

Today the doorsteps of these houses yawn vacantly and the vines fluttering over the portals seem to say, "She comes not yet."

The greatest bargain sale of wives ever known took place upon a recently opened domain a few years ago. A frantic call was sent to the cities for 100 women. And poor girls, out of fun and curiosity and willingness to have a home, went out there. The men met them at the station. The girls looked them over shyly. By evening all the girls had found boarding places in the wooden shanties of the "town." And by Sunday the parson was kept busy tying the nuptial knots. The prettiest girls and the richest ones got the wealthiest men. A girl with $50 was an heiress and a man with $100 a prince. The plain girls took up with poor fellows, with hopes and chances. It was a quick, natural selection.

One very handsome fellow, with blond curls, got a very pretty girl, though neither had a cent. It was a case of beauty. The rude courtship was carried on in the three evenings between the time the girls arrived and Sunday, and within a week there were nearly 100 small wooden houses going up in the town.

There is no name for this peculiar state of society where women are wanted to make homes and where money is laid down for them and paid to them to go to a home. A glaring headline in an English paper once called it "The Bazaar of Women in America."

But among those who see the satisfactory after workings it is merely the good natured request of the girls to add themselves to their country, which is not enough not to be as evenly distributed as it will be when the twenty-first century man and woman come in.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Electricity and Vegetation.

As there are a great many references in our scientific exchanges of late to the influence of electricity on germinating seeds and growing plants we will state that such experiments are not new. Researches in that line were carried on away back in the fifties. In 1858 H. P. Baxter of Scotland wrote as follows in The British Botanical Review:

"As it may be considered a law in vegetable physiology that all plants have a tendency during the germination of their seeds to develop in two diametrically opposite directions, the root and the stem, the question arose, Might not this direction be influenced or counteracted by submitting the germinating seeds to a current of electricity? Accordingly, a series of experiments were undertaken which were carried out with elaboration of detail. After months of patient experimenting I feel justified in announcing that no definite conclusions were drawn from them as to the relative effect of the electricity, although each series of experiments was varied and multiplied."—St. Louis Republic.

Shelley and Fire and Flame.

Unlike most poets, and in this resembling his contemporary Turner in painting, Shelley began with no special love of color, but developed it with his general development. The chief character of Shelley's color is that it is always mingled with light and movement. His is a "green and glowing light like that which drops from folded lilacs in which glowworms dwell." It is translucent color, proceeding from some "innate purple spirit of light," and to seems to be always looking through a rainbow hued cascade. A curious feature in his use of color is the evidently unconscious repetition of the same word within a few lines. The color seems to flash before him and disappear. His colors are fluid, opaline, iridescent. In this, again, as in the "Witch of Atlas," strongly resembling Turner's later use of color, they make "a tapestry of feeble mist," or "woven exhalation underlaid with lambent lightning fire."

No poet has ever used fire so extensively. "Men scarcely know how beautiful fire is," he says. "Each flame of it is as a precious stone dissolved in ever moving light." He finds the resemblance of flame in the unlikely places, even in water, for the dew in a flower is like fire, even in the solid marble, for the pyramid of Cestus is a flame. Everywhere he sees color fused with light and in perpetual movement. The whole visible universe is "a dome of many colored glass," which "stains the white radiance of eternity." Shakespeare has hinted that such was his conception of the world, but Shelley worked it out with a convinced sincerity and daring imaginative insight which seem part of the very texture of this fascinating personality whose fit emblem is the flame of the funeral pyre.

THE ONLY True Blood Purifier prominently in the public eye to-day is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Therefore get Hood's and ONLY HOOD'S.

76 YEARS OLD AND VIGOROUS

A Veteran of the Late War Adds One More Name to the List of Striking Cures by Pink Pills in Michigan.

AN OLD-FASHIONED, LARGE FAMILY OF THIRTEEN CHILDREN.

From the Courier-Herald, Saginaw, Mich.

A few years ago a wave of La Grippe swept over the head and brought thousands of its victims to the grave. Others who escaped the life lived on in sorrow and suffering, broken in health and spirit.

Terrible as was the disease, its after effects were yet more appalling, as it brought out the weaknesses of the constitution and left them shattered wrecks of their former selves.

Only a few days ago a Courier-Herald representative, while at the thriving little town of Saginaw, Mich., met John L. Smith, a veteran of the industrial army, on whose aged head the years had fallen, and who had been told that he had suffered and what had given him relief.

We can do no better than quote his own words, which are as follows: "About seven years ago I was taken down with the grippe, and it fastened on me very hard. I was about half the winter I was so bad that I could not leave the house. I was chilly all the time, and could not get warm. I felt as if I was frozen solid, and could only breathe with great difficulty.

"This condition alternated with sweating and of great violence. There was an almost continuous pain, and it would shoot from one part of my body to another, with great suddenness, and cause me intense suffering. Sometimes it was in my hips, then in my legs, and again it would go to my head and pain me in the eyes. It was so intense that it even affected my sight.

"I called in medical assistance, but this was fruitless, as I received no benefit from physicians. From then on I tried various preparations that were recommended to me, but they did me no good, and my condition was as bad and painful as it was before I tried them.

"Finally, I saw an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and read with much interest of the wonderful cures that they had effected in so many cases. I had tried so many proprietary preparations that I had lost all faith in them, but I had so many other things to see if they were of any use.

"One day when I was feeling as bad as usual, I bought a box of Pink Pills, and before going to bed I took one pill. I cannot tell you what a surprised man I was next morning. Then I put on my shoes with ease, and I felt that I had done for forty years. A little while after this I was so well that I drove to Bay City, Michigan, a distance of twenty-three miles, and was not at all tired when I got there.

"I am now seventy-six years of age and unusually active for a man of my years. I work on my forty-acre farm and experience no trouble from the grippe. I want to say to you that they did me no good, and my condition was as bad and painful as it was before I tried them.

"Another sufferer with the same malady was Neil Raymond, a prosperous and leading farmer, residing near Columbiaville, Lapeer Co., Michigan. Speaking to a representative of the Courier-Herald, Mr. Raymond said: "Three years ago last June, one night I suffered an attack of paralysis, brought on, I think, by the grippe, and as a result of it I was laid up for a long time. I was so bad that I could not leave the house. I was chilly all the time, and could not get warm. I felt as if I was frozen solid, and could only breathe with great difficulty.
